

THE ORCHESTRATOR'S BALLROOM

Architecturally inspired by the St. Regis Grand Hotel in Rome, this elegant ballroom is intended to be the stage of an epic battle against a man known for his love of piano music and classy settings only called The Orchestrator. He is your master of ceremonies and the mastermind behind your troubles; here, on his home turf, you will face him down as he weaves magic from his beloved piano, which is inspired by a restored antique Chickering grand piano with some unique detail work. As evidenced by the piano left open, sheet music still spread across it, and even his tailcoat left hanging from its bench, you can be certain that the owner of this room has only stepped out briefly and will be returning very soon.

Lou Carroll ~ Incarroll@wustl.edu ~ (662) 790-4661

Semi-Concert Grand Piano - Lou Carroll

